We decided to go ahead and open Tport. It looks like the same ol tport but operates much differently and should be responsive to your web devices.

Currently there is outdated News, and no forum posts.

Those who have used the site before are welcome to login and try it out.. We obviously still have work to do but there is/was a lot we can't do without having the site open while we do this.

There has been no announcement about the relaunch yet and we plan on publishing a more formal article with details on new features and more soon!

So THANK YOU for your patience and we look forward to getting the site up to speed soon!
